

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Traineeship

Take the opportunity to become a Queensland police officer!

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

To apply for the Justice Entry Program applicants must:

- be of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander descent
- have either
 - passed Year 10 and completed three years of full-time work experience
 - or
 - completed at least five years of full-time work experience
- hold life-related skills and experience that demonstrates potential to succeed as a police officer

The Queensland Police Service offers a traineeship for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people called the Justice Entry Program (JEP).

JEP is one of the Service's recruitment and career development strategic priorities to encourage Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people into a career in policing.

The traineeship provides the education requirements for entry into the QPS as a police recruit. Trainees who successfully complete this program will receive a Certificate IV in Justice (Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander).

Driving experience is also required. Applicants must hold:

- a current Open Driver Licence to operate a motor vehicle (manual or automatic) in Australia
- or
- a Provisional Driver Licence with at least six months of driving experience.

In addition applicants must meet police recruit entry requirements including health and fitness, integrity and residency.

Designer: Harold Thomas

Designer: Bernard Namok

We don't do boring!

POLICE RECRUITING

www.policerecruit.com.au

1300 BE A COP

We don't do boring!

ADDITIONAL DRIVING REQUIREMENT

JEP trainees with a Provisional Driver Licence must pass the course Drive Vehicle in Queensland (TLIC107C) in their own time and at their own expense before entering the police recruit training program.

DURATION

The JEP traineeship is a six-month, full-time course conducted at the Queensland Police Service Academy.

SALARY

Trainees will receive an allowance equal to that of a police recruit. For existing employees of the Queensland Police Service, ordinary salary or wages will be maintained for the duration of the traineeship.

More information about the Justice Entry Program is available from:

- the Police Recruiting website www.policerecruit.com.au
- or
- Rita Mills
Indigenous Employment Officer
Queensland Police Recruiting
1 300 BE A COP (23 2 267)

For details on course content or accommodation and meal packages available at the Police Academy, contact the Justice Entry Program on (07) 3246 8289.

Grab the opportunity...

APPLY TODAY

This User Choice Program is funded through a Queensland Government initiative administered by the Department of Education and Training.

www.policerecruit.com.au

1300 BE A COP