AFL SportsReady is an employment and education organisation that partners with the Australia Post in providing traineeship employment opportunities for Indigenous people.

We currently have several school based Australia Post traineeship positions available, working in the postal delivery section, starting in March 2013 for current year 10 Indigenous students who will be in year 11 next year.

The positions on offer are at the following outlets:

Caboolture, Heathwood, Brendale, South Brisbane, Mackay, Toowoomba, Clontarf, Noosaville, Rockhampton and Logan City.

The trainee will go to work at Australia Post one day per week and some school holidays as agreed and will learn many aspects of the business including customer service and mail operations, whilst completing a Certificate II in Business.

At the end of the traineeship, if the trainee has shown the right attitude and progress, then it is possible that they will be offered a permanent role upon leaving school.
