LOGO COMPETITION FOR THE CENTRAL QUEENSLAND COMMUNITY SUICIDE PREVENTION NETWORK

Design Brief

The Central Queensland Community Prevention Network was formed in Rockhampton, Queensland in September 2014 as a group of community members and service providers working together to carry out suicide prevention projects and activities throughout the region. The network is supported by Wesley LifeForce, a program funded by the Commonwealth Department of Health as part of the national suicide prevention strategy. The network joins a national network of community groups working together to tackle suicide prevention.

Our network is seeking a local designer or community member to create a logo for the network that reflects our community. The logo will be used to market the network and will be displayed at a national level.

Here are some ideas to think about when creating your design:

Support
Connections
Awareness
Community
Hope

We recommend you only use a few colours to help us keep printing costs low.

The logo should not portray suicide or death as an event.

These are some examples from other networks:
